Dear Mitchell

I was grieved to hear news about Burrill. Do let me know whether I can write to him or not?

Are we supposed to know that he isn't well? If we are, then of course I'd write; but on the other hand, I wouldn't do so if you said not.

There is much to tell to you about. Not only about our work in being & on prospects in far West; but also about news of Hans' visit.

The more I think of that carry on the worse I think of it. However, we can have it all over when arrive'
